The concept of this book is pretty simple: Robinson distinguishes between "believing IN Christ" and "believing Christ." The idea is that while many of us believe in Christ's divinity - His role as the Son of God and the Savior of mankind - too many don't believe Christ when He says He can save us personally.

“Mortals have finite liabilities,” he explains, “and Jesus has unlimited assets.” By merging the two, exaltation can come. As long as we progress in some degree, the Lord will be pleased and will bless us. We must not only believe in Christ but also believe him — believe that he has the power to exalt us, that he can do what he claims.

To have faith in Jesus Christ, we must learn to believe his promise of eternal life. One of the most terrifying dilemmas in the universe consists of two facts. The first is expressed in Doctrine and Covenants 1:31: "I the Lord cannot look upon sin with the least degree of allowance." [ D&C 1:31] That means he can't tolerate it.

Believing Christ - Church Of Jesus Christ

Sometimes, to have faith in Christ is also to believe Christ. Both as a bishop and as a teacher in the Church, I have learned there are many that believe Jesus is the Son of God and that he is the Savior of the World, but that he cannot save them. They believe in his identity, but not in his power to cleanse and to purify and to save.

“Believing Christ,” New Era, Apr. 1994, 46. Special Issue: Rejoice in Christ. ... In our home we have what is now called the parable of the bicycle. It dates back to when my daughter Sarah, who was seven years old at the time, came in and said, “Dad, can I have a bike? I’m the only kid on the block who doesn’t have one.”

Believing Christ

“We often think that having faith in Christ means believing in his identity as the Son of God and the Savior of the world. But believing in Jesus’ identity as the Christ is only the first half of it. The other half is believing in his ability, in his power to cleanse and to save—to make unworthy sons and daughters worthy.”

The parable begins with the comparison formula we have already seen in Matt 13.24, 18.23, and 22.2, 'the kingdom of heaven is like...' but in this case, since it is looking ahead to The End, we now have the future tense 'The kingdom of heaven will be like...' As in previous parables in this gospel, the comparison is made directly with (a person of) a group of people—though we might ...
