This is definitely the camp to visit for cheetahs! The lions, as well as the rest of the animal life you expect to see in the Serengeti were spectacular, but for my wife and I, the cheetahs were the main event. Our guide, Patena, was terrific. We saw (meaning Patena found) seven different adult cheetahs, and nine (!!!) cheetah cubs.

In just seven days there, I see 20 cheetahs, more than 60 lions and, uniquely, a melanistic serval cat that has established its home range not far from Namiri Plains Camp. Melanism is caused by a hiccup in the gene pool that creates a cat with a glossy black coat instead of the usual pattern of spots.

Tanzania Completely refurbished and upgraded in 2019, Namiri Plains is in Tanzania's eastern Serengeti. This remote camp is also a conservation initiative, protecting an area crucial to cheetah and other big cats. Before Namiri Plains was built, these grasslands were closed for 20 years to allow the cheetah population to restore.
